T is for THOUSANDS!

Lucky Andrea Goodheart took delivery of a £5,000 cash prize just before Christmas... all thanks to Compers News and Compers Update.

One piece of advice we always give here at Compers News is: always try to get your entries in early. So you can't blame your editor for muttering under his breath over the Christmas and New Year break as his Inbox strained under literally HUNDREDS of last-minute entries for our A-Z of Prizes competition.

We had hoped to bring you the results of our A-Z quest in this month's issue, but we received so many entries – THOUSANDS in all – that it's taking us much longer than expected to sort everything out. Fingers crossed we'll be able to announce the winners in next month's issue though, so watch this space!

Thanks to everyone for all your entries. The enormous popularity of the competition took us all completely by surprise and it's been fantastic seeing and reading about your thousands and thousands of A-Z wins. One last-minute entry that caught our eye came from Andrea Goodheart... her prize of thousands of pounds matched the thousands of entries we received, so it seems a fitting photo for this month's front cover.

"This photo was taken the day before Christmas Eve when I received my £5,000 cheque from Arrowwords magazine", Andrea told us. "I entered using the info from Compers Update and sent a postcard so my subscription to your mid-monthly bulletin is definitely always going to be renewed!" Thanks for telling us about your great prize Andrea, and glad to be of service!

PICK OF THE MONTH

Goo-ing For Gold

January usually only means one thing in the wonderful world of comping... the launch of the year's big Easter promotions! And this year is no exception, with both Lindt and Cadbury once again getting in on the act.

Unique codes on Lindt Gold Bunnies could win you a £10,000 holiday of your choice, and you'll be up to £1,000 better off if you're lucky (or should that be unlucky?) enough to find a Goo-less Cadbury Crème Egg between now and Easter.

And if these comps sound familiar, it's the third year running that they've both appeared – so Lindt and Cadbury must be happy with the extra sales.

Check out this month's Listings File starting on page 14 for full details of these – and hundreds more – great new comps.

Our Latest Wins

Compers News members have reported these BIG prizes since our last issue!

2. £2,000 cash
3. Stunning £1,500 gold ring
4. £1,000 Love2shop gift voucher

And if you need even more encouragement, here is just a small selection of the other prizes our readers have told us about during the past month!

Center Parcs family break, FOUR £100 Co-op shopping vouchers, Hotpoint washing machine, £100 Asda gift voucher, hot air balloon flight, £500 M&S gift voucher, KitchenAid Artisan stand mixer, £300 Hand Picked Collection gift voucher, FOUR more £150 jewellery vouchers from Regina Blitz, luxury Christmas hamper, THREE more £500 shopping vouchers from Velvet, FOUR £100 fuel cards from Mars, iPhone 6, £500 BHS spending spree, THREE iPad Airs, luxury spa break, £150 Selfridges voucher, case of wine, £750 bathroom makeover, iPad Mini, £100 worth of Theatre Tokens, designer handbag, London pub tour, £250 cash, £500 worth of Barbour products, £100 Waitrose shopping voucher, £200 House of Fraser gift card, Xbox One console, £300 Brand Alley gift voucher, plus LOTS of festive jumpers from Budweiser, cuddly koalas from Cushelle and much, much more...

Remember, these are all GENUINE prizes won by current Compers News members! You tell us about dozens of new prizes EVERY SINGLE DAY, so we don't need to rely on dusty testimonials or general press releases. And with so many prizes coming our way, the next Compers News winner could be YOU!

MORE COMPETITIONS. MORE ADVICE. MORE WINNERS.

THE QUIETEST MONTH?

As many compers will know the first couple of months of the year are by far the quietest in the comping calendar as many promoters take stock after the rush of 31st December closing dates, and try to eke out their promotional budgets until the start of the new financial year in April. I'm happy to report that this year's hiatus doesn't seem quite as bad as usual though, and we're already seeing some nice new comps – and prizes! – appearing. Take a look at this month's Listings File for all the latest details.

Although it may seem a quiet time for everyone reading this it is always, on the contrary, a busy time here at Compers News. Holiday deadlines play havoc with our usual schedules, and we have to spend more time unearthing the fewer comps that are still out there. It's also the period when we undertake our biggest research task of the year – the annual Whitaker's Almanack quiz. This year's edition was published a few weeks later than usual as they wanted to include the results of the Scottish Independence referendum, and this in turn gave us a lot less time than usual for research. We still managed it though – after wading through 1,182 pages of very serious facts and figures many, many times – and you'll find our suggested answers in this month's Listings File.

As far as I'm aware we're the last major comping magazine that takes the time and effort to undertake this Herculean task every year, so fingers crossed we'll see another Compers News reader walking away with the top prize – as so often happens.

As you may have read on this month's front page, another reason for this not-so-quiet period at the Compers News office was the avalanche of last-minute entries for our exclusive A-Z of Prizes competition, which closed at the end of December. We ended up with literally thousands of entries – an astounding response – so thank you for sharing all your photographs with us. If everything goes to plan, we'll announce the names of the lucky winners in next month's issue. By the way, if you entered our A-Z competition by post and included a SAE for the return of your photographs, we'll be sending the photos back once the winners have been drawn and officially confirmed so please bear with us a little longer.

All of those last-minute entries did get us a bit worried about our new True Comper Awards competition though (you can read full details on pages 8 & 9). If you're planning on entering, then please remember there are MONTHLY closing dates so it's important that you don't leave everything until the very last minute this time around. In fact, our first awards category closes on 28th February – which isn't very long at all – so make sure you don't miss out. The main prizes really DO fall into the 'money can't buy' category, and we've got a brilliant day with lots of surprises planned for all of our lucky True Comper Award winners!

Steve Middleton, Editor

closed the competition and awarded the prize. Why did they change it to another strange time - so they could sort out the competition before they went home? Plenty of people were upset by this, and it was actually a non-comper who complained to the ASA. This was their ruling:-

We have considered your complaint, and think you have a valid point. With a view to acting quickly, we will ask Last Minute Network Ltd to provide us with an assurance that they will not change the closing date of future competitions unless this is in line with the advertising Code we administer.

So really lastminute.com have got away with a telling off, and asked not to do it again. I would like to see the ASA given the power to make a company award an additional prize. It feels like a weak victory, but if we don't report every case, how will the ASA know the size of the problems we face? My only advice for competitions on social media would be to enter as soon as possible, in case the competition suddenly changes or disappears.

The next competition had a closing date which was extended. A Chatterbox forum user found a competition on the Poundland website on the 8th September with a closing date of the 30th September 2014. There were lots of lovely prizes, five first prizes of iPads and a year's supply of VO5 styling products for 50 runner-ups. Purchase of two specific VO5 products was required to enter, and straight away members were reporting that it was very difficult to find the product in their local Poundland store. Many members made a special trip to other Poundland branches to find the product quickly, because of the short closing date.

Suddenly on 26th September a Chatterbox user noticed that the online terms and conditions had changed. They were now showing a closing date of 31st October. As I mentioned earlier, this is against the CAP code, so I started off by trying to contact Poundland directly. I asked them why they had changed the date, and guessing there had been a product distribution problem, suggested splitting the prizes over two closing dates to be fair to early entrants. Recorded delivery letters were ignored, and promises of a return phone call to explain did not materialise. Finally on 11th October I made a complaint to the ASA. I said that I felt that I had been disadvantaged, because I had made a special effort to buy the products before the original closing date. I received a ruling at the end of October, and it was not in my favour:

We have spoken with the advertiser and we understand that they experienced issues with the supply of the promotional stands to be used in store, which in turn led to distribution issues from their warehouse, and resulted in the promotion not being promoted in all stores until 26th September. It was for this reason that they extended the closing date to compensate.

As you noted, we require that closing dates of promotions are not changed unless circumstances outside the reasonable control of the promoter make it unavoidable. In this case, we consider that the supply issues, which arose with the manufacturer, would seem likely to constitute circumstances outside the advertiser's reasonable control, and that by extending the closing date, consumers who had been unable to enter the competition during that delay, were provided with a reasonable opportunity to do so. That said, we agree that the issues that arose in this promotion could have been managed more equitably, promptly and efficiently.

SAVE THE DATE

A competition closing date is one of the first things we check when we find a competition we want to enter. It is arguably one of the most important rules, but what happens if the date changes? Lately, I have noticed an increase in competition terms also giving a TIME for closing the competition too. This month I want to look at two competitions that had their closing dates/times changed, and the problems that occur when this happens.

The CAP Code on Sales Promotions is quite clear on the closing date issue:

Unless circumstances outside the reasonable control of the promoter make it unavoidable, closing dates must not be changed. If they are changed, promoters must do everything reasonable to ensure that consumers who participated within the original terms are not disadvantaged.

The release of a new Paddington film has meant that the bear has featured heavily in advertising and competitions recently. Fifty bear statues were spread across London and these featured in several photo competitions. One such competition was run by lastminute.com on Twitter. To enter, you had to "post a picture with our Paddington Bear - Dapper Bear, who resides at Notting Hill Gate Tube Station, and use #DapperBear". The prize was £250 credit to spend on a stay at a London Paddington hotel.

The closing date and time were clearly shown in the terms as 27th November at 11pm which is very precise, and a strange time to choose. I wonder why they didn't choose midnight? Our reader made a special trip to find Paddington on the final day of the competition. When she got home, she was amazed to discover that they had changed the terms to read 2pm, and so they had already that without a doubt these are the best and happiest years of his life. He doesn't have to work for 40+ hours a week any more or have any of the stress or expense of travelling to and from work. And instead of worrying about how to make ends meet, or seeing if he could afford the things he wants, he can finally relax safe in the knowledge that he has more than enough money to see him through. We have witnessed this system in action and we can verify that it absolutely will provide you with your chosen amount of tax-free cash and 'grant you your wish' every time you use it! When you get to age 62 or older you suddenly realise the awful reality of life on a much reduced income in the form of a pension. Did you know that most retirees suffer a 60% drop in income when they start drawing their pension? Think about it, could you get by with a 60% wage cut from tomorrow? Fortunately you don't have to worry about this nightmare scenario because you have an absolutely fantastic option for a wonderful future of wealth and comfort and happiness right in front of you. Today you find yourself in the truly enviable and fortunate position of being able to get hold of the information which will virtually guarantee you a future of comfort and prosperity".

Although we understand that you feel you were personally disadvantaged because of the effort you made in order to meet the original closing date, our consideration under the Code is based on whether consumers who participated within the original terms of the competition may have been disadvantaged in terms of the competition itself, for example if their chances of winning had been unreasonably affected. In this case, we do not consider that any reduction in the chances of winning could be reasonably argued to be a direct result of the extension as it offered the opportunity to enter to those who would have, if not for the delay, been offered such opportunity within the original promotional period.

We have therefore concluded that, on balance, the change of the closing date was for reasons outside of their reasonable control and that the resulting issues with the administration of the promotion were the result of genuine mistakes by the Marketing Team. The advertiser has acknowledged that they could have taken steps to communicate the change, and the surrounding issues, to those who had already entered and assured us that they will take greater care in future. They have also put in place new internal procedures to ensure that the Legal Team is involved in any such issues going forward.

For these reasons, we have decided not to pursue any further action on this occasion. We will however keep your comments on file and monitor the response to future promotions from this advertiser.

This was obviously disappointing, but can you see their point of view? I think they are saying that consumers in general have not been disadvantaged, because more were able to enter and maybe win. I can see it from both sides, but I still think the "early bird" purchaser did lose out. However, in the end Chatterbox users reported 3 out of the 5 main prizes and a good number of the runner-up prizes, so we still did well overall.

A word to the Street-wise

As you know, I like to watch the ASA rulings, and though not a 'real' competition, a recent ruling caught my attention.

A website advertisement from Streetwise Publications, headed "Discover How George Wins £50,000 A Year", included various claims about the success of an advertised gambling system, including "£980 a week, £50,000 a year, tax free, as much money as he wants - whenever he likes! Basically I have found a way I can win any amount of money I choose to win every day! My chosen medium of enjoyment for this is horse racing but I wouldn't call this 'gambling' because I am very 'risk averse' and the system always wins each day. This little system has the phenomenal ability to double the bank every three months. In his system instructions he is going to show you exactly how to do this, so this means your success is 100% certain! George is 'getting on a bit' now but says

Wow! Some amazing claims there! I wonder how George (if he exists!) feels about being described as "getting on a bit"! How tempting it is to think you could double your bank balance every three months and that success is 100% certain. If you truly had a working system, surely you would have enough money without needing to sell it to someone else! The constant references to age, pension and retirement make me think that they are trying to target older people who may be more vulnerable. I am very surprised that in this day and age, any company would think they could get away with advertising such claims.

Understandably, the ASA were not impressed!

The ASA considered consumers would understand the claims such as "this means your success is 100% certain" to mean that all users of the system had been successful in profiting from the system, and that those profits had been in line with those referenced in the ad. We noted Streetwise Publications' assertions that the system had been successful for its author, and that the use of mathematics ensured the system would always be successful, but noted that they had not provided any evidence to demonstrate that any users of the system had been successful. We considered that the advertisement suggested gambling could be a solution to financial concerns, an alternative to employment and a way to achieve financial security, which was in breach of the Code.

We all love entering competitions, but we understand that it is not a way to "get rich quick" - if only! However, even the most sensible of us can sometimes get taken in, so please be vigilant and watch out for elderly friends and relatives who are an easy target for such schemes. Please do get in touch if you see any unfair or suspect competitions you would like me to investigate.

My Comping Story

This month and next, Pam & Jane take it in turns to tell their comping stories. First up, it's over to Jane...

This summer, I will have been a comper, at least a regular comper, for thirty years. And as I will also turn 60, comping will have been a major hobby for half of my life. And yet really I have been comping since I was tiny. Recently Pam and I were talking about how we started comping, and about how comping has changed our lives and has itself changed over the years we've been enjoying it, and thought you might like to hear our own stories. The snag is we both have FAR too much to say on the matter to fit into our normal pages, so we've decided to take a month each so we each get more space (although I'm sure either of us could fill a whole issue of Compers News if we had the chance!). Actually as I write this, Pam is sunning herself somewhere in the tropics, so she really IS taking a holiday this month!

When I was a little girl, my grandmother was a comper. She used to buy a weekly newspaper called Competitors Journal, which was crammed with advice about comps, lists of comps to look out for and comps for readers to enter – does that sound familiar at all? Yes, Compers News is now part of that great tradition of comping magazines. One prize of hers I remember well – in those days, bags of crisps were unsalted and came with a little blue paper twist containing the salt. There was an instant win promotion on them, and one day she opened her crisps and found that the salt package was lined with a little white "Congratulations" slip – her prize was a big metal tin containing 40 packets of crisps. As a five year old, I thought that was amazing! Grandma used to buy magazines like Titbits, which had order-of-merit competitions in it, and She, which used to have several pages of puzzle and tiebreaker comps, as well as entering the comps she found in CJ. One time I helped her to make as many words as possible out of the name of a brand of toothpaste, and she shared her prize with me – a postal order for 1/6 (that's 7½p in today's money). Another time, my parents sat inside a warm café while Grandma and I scoured the Rhyel seafront on a wet, windy day, clutching an empty washing powder packet. If we'd found the Mystery Man and shown him the packet, we'd have won a prize, but sadly all we went home with was a nasty chill.

One day she was looking after me when I was off school poorly, and she gave me a copy of the local newspaper, with a picture to colour in. I've always loved colouring (I still do) and coloured it in straight away. Unknown to me, it was a competition and she posted it off to the paper. The next I knew of it I was the proud owner of a pencil case containing a pen, pencils and a ruler – I'd won the competition! That started me on my own comping journey. I dabbled throughout my childhood and occasionally won toys, books and stationery. My most memorable childhood win was a dressing gown with a fluffy rabbit on the pocket!

As many people do, I lost interest in comping during my teens. It was only when I went to university that I became aware of comping as a recognised hobby. One of my new student friends was a comper, and always seemed to have cinema tickets, vouchers for meals out and other treats when the rest of us were struggling to afford any extras. He often had interesting tasks to take his mind off study, too – for instance he once got us all hooked on trying to help him to identify cars from photos of a tiny section of the bonnet. His comping did have its occasional downsides though – he once won a whole case of canned chunky chicken in white sauce, and rather than waste it, ate it for every meal for the rest of term!

Urged on by my friend's success, I attempted my first ever tiebreaker – a limerick completion on an entry form I was given when I went to see the film 'Enter the Dragon'. A few weeks later, I was delighted to receive a gift set of men's toiletries. My Dad got a super Christmas present that year!

After University, I married and my husband was in the Army; his regiment was part of the Brigade of Gurkhas who were based mostly in the Far East. For the next few years we seldom lived for more than a few months in one place, living in Brunei, Germany, England (twice) and Hong Kong (three times) so I didn't get much chance to enter any competitions as so often we were due to have moved on before they closed. But even so I did enter when I had the chance, and won several prizes in both the UK and Hong Kong. Not enough to really consider myself a comper though. However I did encourage the children, when they came along, to enter colouring competitions and they were often successful. In fact one of my daughters won us a very special family lunch in one of Hong Kong's top tourist hotels.

In 1985 my husband left the Army and we settled down in the UK, and that's when my comping story really started. I didn't rush in and become a comper straight away – I was too taken up with the move and settling down permanently to think about it. Then one day I filled in the crossword in the magazine I was reading and sent it in, and won the prize of a soft toy making kit, and that got me hooked. A few days after winning, I spotted something I'd almost forgotten in the years since my gran died – a copy of Competitors Journal on a newsagent's shelf. I treated myself, read it cover to cover, and have never looked back!

Soon the prizes started to trickle in – a packet of vegetarian burger mix which even the birds wouldn't eat, a few toys, a saucepan and soup bowls (we still use the pan, thirty years later) and of course a selection of T-shirts. In those days, everything was done by post, so the turnaround time of a comp was pretty slow and it took a while to really start winning. But then, on Christmas Eve, a letter arrived to tell me that I'd won a top-of-the-range knitting machine worth £1,000. As many of you know, I'm a crafter as well as a comper, so you will know how thrilled I was! At that time, the children were at primary school and they loved the fact that they could tell me in the morning that they would like a jumper with cats/flowers/dinosaurs on it and I'd have one knitted and ready for them by the time they got home from school. What a perfect prize for my first ever biggie.

At the time, with no internet, compers kept in touch with each other by post. All kinds of postal comping services were advertised in CJ – pen pal clubs, round-robin entry form swapping groups, charity quiz sheets and desktop-published subscription-only magazines. I signed up for absolutely EVERYTHING and loved it all! I know that some of you who are reading this now are among the friends I made then, swapping forms and labels and sharing news of our wins. I soon realised what a wonderfully friendly place the world of comping was – something that non-compers still find difficult to grasp.

The friendliness of comping has remained over the years, but oh my goodness how much everything else has changed! When I first started out, the proof of purchase needed for most comps was a label or bottle top, and I'm sure many compers did what I did and had a drawer stuffed with labels and lids from products that had frequent comps – Heinz, Nescafé, Fairy Liquid and so on. Then along came the itemised till receipt, and promoters started to ask for those instead. Not only was it easier to handle, but it also meant they could check that the item had been bought within the promotion period. And my kitchen drawer could fill up with scissors, string and those anonymous little bits of metal that look as if they might be important, like a normal kitchen drawer.

Before the advent of search engines, finding answers to questions was all part of being a comper. I used to spend at least one day a week in the library, with a long list of questions, combing through reference books for the answers. And I know of people who invested in a complete Oxford English Dictionary to give them an advantage in those "How many words can you make from this phrase" comps. Nowadays answers and word lists can be found with just a click of a mouse!

Thirty years ago, phone-in comps were almost unheard of. I can still remember the very first one I entered, trembling with fear of the unknown while trying to dictate my address to an answering machine. It paid off though, I won a record token (for younger compers, that's like an iTunes credit, only harder work to use). Phone calls were priced by time of day and distance then, unlike now where a promoter can have a non-geographical number that costs the same wherever you are and whenever you call, and premium rate calls hadn't been invented. And of course text comps didn't exist, because practically nobody had a mobile phone. I can remember the first time I saw one, when some workmen came to fit a prize kitchen. Their phone was the size of a housebrick, and had to stand on a charger the size of a small briefcase. I thought, "They'll never catch on!"

From then on, technology moved at a hurricane speed, and with every new way of communicating, a new way of comping appeared. Teletext, the Internet, Social Media and now Smart Phones, all have increased the number of ways a comp can be run and introduced endless variety into our hobby. Who could have dreamed thirty years ago that one day we'd be able to enter a comp by pointing a phone at a bottle of cider? That we'd be able to enter a photography comp within seconds of taking the photo, instead of waiting for a film to be processed and then sending the picture by post? Or that instead of saving labels and lids, we'd be able to prove we'd bought a product simply by typing a code into a website? And most of all, that we'd be able to chat to hundreds of like-minded compers from all over the country without travelling to a meeting or buying a stamp, simply by logging in to Chatterbox?

I'm sure I'd have been reluctant to learn a fraction of what I know about technology if I hadn't wanted to keep abreast of all the developments in comping, so if anyone ever criticises your hobby, point out to them how educational it is!

Pam will be along next month to tell you her comping story, but in the meantime, we'd love to hear from YOU! WINNING WIDGETS

Giveaway 'widgets' are an easy and flexible way for promoters to run prize draws on websites, blogs and Facebook pages. This month, Di explains how to enter giveaways using the two most popular widgets, Rafflecopter and Gleam.

Many compers avoid Gleam and Rafflecopter giveaways, because they don't really understand them - but they're not as complicated as they look! They are a great way to run giveaways on blogs - and promoters are also choosing to use widgets to give away holidays, games consoles and computers, so it's definitely worth learning to use them. You can find Gleam and Rafflecopter giveaways listed at www.theprizefinder.com/blogs, or simply search Google or Twitter.

Promoters and bloggers like using Rafflecopter and Gleam because the basic plans are free, flexible and offer an easy way to administer prize draws - entries are tracked and a random winner is chosen fairly. The widgets also capture email addresses, so winners can be contacted directly rather than relying on Facebook messages. Promoters can choose what to display at the top of the widget - usually you will see a countdown to the closing date, the total entries in the draw (never let a large number put you off - in some cases you can earn 100+ entries!), and the number of entries YOU have in the draw. Underneath this is the prize, then a list of entry tasks. You DON'T have to do all these - usually only one or two are mandatory, and the rest will earn you optional bonus entries. Sometimes completing the first few tasks will 'unlock' others.

Although they are visually similar, many compers prefer Gleam due to the easy one-click entry, compared to Rafflecopter which is more time consuming. From a promoter's point of view, Rafflecopter allows for thorough checks on the validity of entries, whereas the information supplied by Gleam is limited. Once you've logged into Gleam or Rafflecopter, it should remember you when you enter a different giveaway, so you don't have to log in again until your next session.

HOW TO COMMENT ON A BLOG

Leaving a relevant comment is a common request if the Rafflecopter or Gleam widget is hosted on a blog. To do this, scroll down and look for 'leave a comment' or 'leave a reply' with an empty box. Type your comment into the box - you may need to leave an email address (which won't be published). If there's an option to leave a website address, leave it blank - this is for bloggers to leave their blog URL. Sometimes there are hundreds of comments on a blog post - to quickly get to the bottom of the page to leave yours, use the Cmd key and down arrow on a Mac, or tap End on a PC (use Cmd and up arrow, or Home to return to the top after commenting). Some blogs moderate comments so yours may not appear immediately.

Promoters choose from a variety of ways to set up a widget. You can choose to log in with just a name and email address - you don't need to have any social media accounts, although that will limit your entries in the draw. It's easiest to log in using a Facebook or Twitter account - the promoter will be given access to the email address you registered with that social network. With Gleam, promoters may choose to send an email each time you complete a task. Below are the most common tasks for Rafflecopter and Gleam, and how to complete them. Other possible tasks include following on Bloglovin' or Tumblr, adding to Google+ circles, posting on a Facebook page, sharing a photo on Instagram, watching a video and many more.

COMPLETING GLEAM ENTRIES

- Answer a question. You'll need to leave your answer in the widget - this may involve visiting the sponsor's website to choose a favourite product or find the answer.
- Comment on this blog post. Scroll down to leave a comment, then in the widget leave the name you commented with.
- Visit on Facebook. Click Visit page - when the window opens, close it and the green Continue button will now be clickable.
- Follow on Twitter. Click the green button and this will happen automatically.
- Tweet. Click the green button to tweet automatically - hover over the word tweet to view the text you'll be tweeting.
- Follow on Pinterest. You'll need to open Pinterest, click Follow then close the window. Add your Pinterest name in the widget.
- Follow on Instagram. Click the green button to automatically follow.
- Subscribe to a YouTube channel. Click the subscribe button, and YouTube will open in another window. If you're logged in, simply click Subscribe, close the window and click the green Continue button in Gleam.
- Subscribe to a blog or newsletter. This could be automatic, or there may be instructions on how to subscribe.

- Refer friends for extra entries. Click this and you're given a unique link to share on Facebook, Twitter, G+ etc. For every one of your friends who clicks this and enters the giveaway, you get a bonus entry.
- Bonus entry. This is to encourage you to revisit the blog, click it daily for a bonus entry.

COMPLETING RAFFLECOPTER ENTRIES

Rafflecopter is similar to Gleam, but you need to manually complete the social media entries.

- Answer a question. Leave your answer in the widget.
- Leave a blog post comment. Leave a comment, then in the widget leave the name you commented with.
- Visit on Facebook. Click 'Visit us' then close the new window and click 'I visited' in the widget.
- Follow on Twitter. Click Follow, and a pop up will open where you can click Follow again. Close this window and type your Twitter username into the widget.
- Tweet about the giveaway. Click Tweet, and a window showing the (editable) tweet text pops up. Click Tweet, and then immediately look for the link to 'View on Twitter'. Right-click this and choose 'copy link address' then close the window and paste the tweet URL into the widget. If you're not quick enough to do this, open up twitter.com in another window and navigate to your profile page, then right click the timestamp on the tweet and copy the link from there.
- Follow on Instagram. There may be a clickable link, or just a name to follow. Click to follow, then close the window and type your Instagram username in the widget.
- Bring Your Friends. Rafflecopter offers a maximum of ten bonus entries for referring friends who go on to enter the giveaway.
- Free Entry. This is to encourage you to revisit the blog, click daily for a bonus entry.

TIPS

- Bookmark favourite giveaways into your daily folder - daily tweets or sharing referral links can give you lots of extra entries and increase your chance of winning considerably.
- If the widget doesn't display, refresh the page.
- In some cases, the widget won't display on a blog post and you'll have to click a line of text - eg. 'a Rafflecopter giveaway' - which will take you to the Rafflecopter site. This is because free Wordpress sites don't allow widgets.

Good luck with your entries!

TRUE COMPER AWARDS 2015

FIRST CATEGORY
CLOSES ON
28TH FEBRUARY
2015!

Nominations are now open for our coveted True Comper Awards, with EIGHT lucky Compers News members winning an exclusive trip for 2 to London where they'll be presented with a money-can't-buy True Comper trophy by the Compers News team!

You know you're a True Comper when...

If you've been reading Compers News for a while, those words will remind you of a regular column that used to feature in the magazine – and they're the inspiration for our latest big-prize, member-only competition.

Later in 2015, we'll be hosting an exclusive True Comper Awards event in London for the EIGHT lucky winners of our competition. Each winner – and a guest – will join the Compers News team in the capital for a day of surprises culminating in the award of their very own True Comper trophy. We'll also throw in some spending money for the winners to use towards travel, accommodation or anything else they like to make their day in London even more memorable!

For a chance to win one of our EIGHT money-can't-buy prizes, all you have to do is nominate yourself for one (or more!) of our six True Comper Awards categories. There'll be one winner for each category, plus two 'wild card' winners which we'll select from all six categories after the final closing date.

MORE THAN 50 PRIZES MUST BE WON!

EIGHT MAIN PRIZE WINNERS

Our EIGHT main winners – each with a guest – will join the Compers News team in London on Saturday 17th October 2015 for a day of fun and surprises culminating in the award of their very own True Comper trophy. We'll also throw in some spending money for the winners to use towards travel, accommodation or anything else they like to make their day in London even more memorable!

There will be ONE winner for EACH of our six True Comper Awards categories.

A seventh winner will then be chosen by our judging panel from the 'near miss' entries across all six categories after the final closing date.

A final, eighth winner will also be selected in a random draw from ALL qualifying entries across all six categories after the final closing date... meaning that EVERYONE who enters our competition can be a winner!

PLUS BONUS PRIZES GALORE!

Even if you don't win one of our main prizes, we'll be printing a selection of entries in the magazine throughout 2015 and anything we use will win the sender a £50 cash prize!

AND COMPERS NEWS BADGES FOR OUR 'EARLY BIRD' ENTRANTS!

The first FIFTY qualifying entrants in our True Comper Awards competition will each win one of our exclusive limited-edition Compers News badges! (Only one badge per person.)

Each entry you make needs to include a letter or article telling us the full story behind your nomination, and at least one photograph. Apart from that, you're free to make your entry as short or as long – with as many photographs – as you like... just remember that a panel of judges will be selecting the main category winners so we suggest making your entry as apt, original and eye-catching as you can.

How to Enter the competition

We've made it as simple as possible for you to enter our True Comper Awards competition. All you have to do is choose one of our six award categories and tell us why you should win the award in that category. We need a letter or article from you and AT LEAST one photograph to illustrate your story. Apart from that, there are no minimum or maximum word or photo limits, or format restrictions – all we suggest is that you make your entry as original and eye-catching as you can to grab our judges' attention, otherwise it's completely up to you!

We'll be announcing category winners each month starting with our April issue, which means that different categories have different closing dates. So please ensure you check the Awards Schedule on this page carefully to make sure your entry arrives on time!

Send your entry along with the title of the category you're entering, your full name, address and Compers News membership number to: True Comper Awards, Compers News, PO Box 8763, Nottingham NG2 9BS or email via: editor@compersnews.com (please put TRUE COMPER AWARDS in the subject line).

If you're entering by post and would like your photos returned, please enclose an SAE. Entries must reach us by the closing dates shown on the Awards Schedule at the very latest, and you can enter for as many of the six award categories as you like, as often as you like. There's absolutely NO limit on entries, although you must make sure that you're a Compers News member both at the date of entry AND the final closing date for your entry to count. Main winners must be able to attend our True Compers Awards event on Saturday 17th October 2015, otherwise they will forfeit their prize and another winner will be chosen. Winners names and counties will be published in Compers News after the final closing date. Standard Compers News competition rules apply. See www.compersnews.com/terms for full details.

COMPERS NEWS PRIZE TOKENS COMPETITION

We print a PRIZE TOKEN every month in Compers News. Keep your tokens safe, as you'll need them to enter our regular Prize Token draws!

Depending on the size of the prize on offer, each draw will need a minimum of 2 and a maximum of 12 tokens to enter – see below for details of the current prize, and the number of tokens you'll need to collect.

You'll need a full set of ORIGINAL tokens to enter each draw (no photocopies or digital edition print-outs accepted). You'll also need to answer a question based on the numbers or letters that appear on each token – so make sure you don't lose them!

WIN A £100 SHOPPING VOUCHER

You'll need THREE tokens to enter our current Prize Tokens draw – which runs across our January, February and March issues. And the prize will definitely come in handy if you overspent during the Christmas season... one lucky winner will receive a £100 shopping voucher for the supermarket or High Street store of their choice!

Remember to keep the token here safe, and we'll tell you what to do with it in our March issue.

WIN ONE Puzzle 4 OF TWO £25 CASH PRIZES

Starting with the letter given in the grid, fit the words listed below the grid to form a word-chain in which the last letter of one word is the first of the next. For example, the words PLUM, MAID and DAME would appear as PLUMAIDAME. However, when the last letter of a word falls in a space containing a number, switch that letter to the other space with the same number and re-start the chain from there. Unscramble the letters in the blue squares to reveal a 'prisoner' prize word and then write it on the entry form on page 13.

WHAT OUR LISTINGS FILE SYMBOLS MEAN

NEW This is the first time that the listing has appeared in Compers News, so we give detailed information about the competition and how to enter.

ONGOING This listing has previously appeared in Compers News, so in some cases only brief information may be included to remind you that the competition is still out there and to carry on entering! For a full, detailed listing you should refer to the issue shown... remember to use our online library of back issues at www.compersnews.com/digital if you don't have your paper copies to hand.

++ When this symbol appears next to a closing date it means that the date shown is the FINAL closing date for the competition, but that there are earlier closing dates during the promotion too. There could, for example, be multiple draws (e.g. hourly, daily or monthly), or the promotional period might include a final 'mop-up' draw for late entries after the main prizes have been awarded. When you see this symbol, check the main listing carefully to ensure you don't miss out on the earlier draws and prizes!

Prize Draws Quick & Easy

A quick postcard or plain paper entry is all that's needed for everything in this section – there's nothing else to buy or do! Where other entry methods are available (e.g. phone, text or online) we list these too, so just enter in the way that's easiest for you.

Closes: 30th October 2015 🇨🇭

Prizes: 12 x £500 Staples Gift Certificate

Entry: Hand-write your name, address, phone number and date of birth on a '3x5" piece of paper (we assume they mean inches rather than centimetres!) and send in a stamped envelope to: Staples Customer Survey Prize Draw, Westfields, London Road, High Wycombe HP11 1HA. You can also enter online at www.staples-survey.co.uk if you have a Staples till receipt inviting you to do so – in this case you'll need to input codings from the receipt.

Notes: One entry per person per day. There are twelve monthly draws until the final closing date, each with one prize to be won. Each entry will go into one draw, for the month it is received, only.

Purchase Needed New This Month

You need to buy something to enter the comps in this section – just follow our instructions. If a free 'No Purchase Necessary' (NPN) option is offered, we'll give you all the details. Northern Ireland readers should check the T&Cs of any comps in this category that they wish to enter, as legal differences mean that NI-only entry restrictions and/or free entry instructions can sometimes apply.

IMPORTANT! Promoters are entitled to ask for proof of purchase for any comp listed in this section, and an increasing number are now doing so. Therefore, we strongly suggest that you keep your original codes, packaging, till receipts etc. safe as they may be needed to claim a prize. If you enter without making a purchase, or retaining proof of purchase, then you do so entirely at your own risk.

Purchase Needed Ongoing

Our EXCLUSIVE at-a-glance digest of every ongoing 'Purchase Needed' comp that's previously featured in Compers News. Don't forget to carry on entering!

ONGOING The listings on these pages have all previously appeared in Compers News, so only brief information is included to remind you that the competitions are still out there. For full, detailed listings you should refer to the back issues shown... remember to use our online library at www.compersnews.com/ digital if you don't have your paper copies to hand.

WHAT THE SYMBOLS ON THESE PAGES MEAN

PD This competition is a PRIZE DRAW.

IW This competition is an INSTANT WIN.

If both symbols are listed for the same competition, this indicates that prizes are awarded by both PRIZE DRAW and INSTANT WIN methods.

+++ When this symbol appears next to a closing date it means that the date shown is the FINAL closing date for the competition, but that there are earlier closing dates during the promotion too. There could, for example, be multiple draws (e.g. hourly, daily or monthly), or the promotional period might include a final 'mop-up' draw for late entries after the main prizes have been awarded. When you see this symbol, check the main listing carefully to ensure you don't miss out on the earlier draws and prizes!

LONG-RUNNING LISTINGS

Special packs, entry forms etc. – where needed – may now be difficult to find for some of the older listings on these pages. Get into the habit of picking up everything you need for a comp as soon as you can, even if you don't intend entering straight away!

Please also note that some of our older listings may now have entered their final 'mop-up' phase, and in these cases the Top Prizes shown might no longer be available to win. Where applicable, please refer to main listings for detailed summaries of ongoing prize availability and closing dates.

BEAT THE ED

...and win up to 1,000 STAMPS
(or £500 cash if you prefer!)

Your editor has been a genuine comper for almost 40 years, and prides himself on going out most days looking for new comps. Not for him a reliance on second or third-hand information, or 'Comp Collector' assistants because he can't be bothered to leave the office... searching for new comps in all weathers is his favourite part of the job!

But, your poor old Ed can't be everywhere – and this is where YOU come in! Chances are you live in a different area, shop at different stores, buy different products or read different newspapers and magazines... so can YOU find a brand new comp first and BEAT THE ED?

ANY comp that we can use in Compers News qualifies – including ANY on-pack or in-store promotion, ANY entry form or leaflet, ANY magazine or booklet... and even major web comps too! Simply send us an original or clear photocopy of ALL the actual comp material – including the small print. And if you are sending us something from a magazine where the answers and/or T&Cs appear on different pages, please make sure that you send us EVERYTHING!

Entries can be POSTED to: BEAT THE ED, Compers News, PO Box 8763, Nottingham NG2 9BS, UPLOADED via our website at www.compersnews.com/member-contributions, or SCANNED as an email attachment to: editor@compersnews.com – please put 'BEAT THE ED' in the subject line, and make sure that you enlarge any particularly tiny small-print before sending!

Every time you send us a comp we haven't seen before and that can be included in a future edition of Compers News, you'll get an entry into both our monthly and six-monthly draws. The more times you BEAT THE ED (he'll not be upset, promise!), the more entries you get – so IF IN DOUBT, SEND IT IN... and check out Chatterbox for any particular 'wants' we're after that'll give you GUARANTEED entries into the draw!

At the end of every month we'll draw out THREE lucky winners who'll each receive 24 second-class stamps – or a £10 Love2shop gift voucher if you don't enter that many postal comps these days... just tell us that you'd prefer the gift voucher when you enter, otherwise we'll automatically send you stamps if you're a winner. And twice a year – on 31st January and 31st July – there'll be a BEAT THE ED SUPERDRAW, where EVERY qualifying entry from the previous six months will go into a further draw for our amazing BEAT THE ED JACKPOT... a sensational ONE THOUSAND STAMPS – or £500 CASH if you prefer!

So, go on... rise to the challenge and try to BEAT THE ED. You never know your luck!

comping news!

As a Compers News member, you're entitled to sign up for our EXCLUSIVE interactive online message board – so if fancy a chat and you're not already registered, why not do it today?

Visit www.compersnews.com/members and log in using your Compers News membership number – this is the 8-character alpha-numeric sequence printed alongside your name and address when your magazine is delivered each month.

Then click on 'Open Chatterbox'. You should now be able to see the Chatterbox main menu, but won't be able to read or write messages until you've registered as a Chatterbox user. To do this, click on 'Register' towards the top right-hand corner of the main menu page. You'll then be guided through the registration process and once your application has been checked and approved – usually within 72 hours – you'll have full access to our friendly members-only message board.

You'll be asked for the following information when you register for the first time, so make sure you have it to hand:

- A username of your choice – we suggest having another in reserve, in case your first choice is already taken.
- A password of your choice – keep a careful note of this, as you'll need it in the future and we're unable to retrieve it for you if you lose or forget it.

- Your Compers News membership number
- Your Chatterbox Access Code – sometimes you might be asked for this as an additional security / anti-spam measure and it needs to be entered in BLOCK CAPITALS with no spaces. If requested, your Access Code is: WINNER15

Once your membership has been approved, you'll need your username and password to sign-in on all future visits – and you'll occasionally be asked to re-enter your membership number for security purposes too – so make sure that you keep a note of these details somewhere safe as you won't be able to log on without them.

Chatterbox is designed to be an interactive message board, so we do ask for a minimum level of participation. Full details of our message board's User Policy, Terms & Conditions and a selection of other useful user information can be found on the forums at Welcome to Chatterbox > Compers News & Chatterbox User Information > Important Rules & Regulations once your registration has been approved, and we recommend that you take some time to read this as soon as possible after joining.

We look forward to seeing you!
